

Paint a Portrait

We have many portraits in our collection. Through their portraits people get to choose what they would like someone to know about them. Each one is different. Some people are painted with objects that tell us what their hobbies and interests are. Some people are painted in clothes which tell us what job they had.

Look at these two portraits. What can you guess about these people based on these paintings?

What would you like someone to know about you? Draw a portrait of yourself in the box below. Think about what objects you could draw to tell people something about you.
